Brian Lynn Jones and the Misfit Cowboys

Brian Lynn Jones, teamed up with The Misfit Cowboys, is a fun rocking Honky-Tonk original music act. Playing great Country and Western hits as well as favorite Honky-Tonk tunes, this band is sure to have audiences kicking up their heels.

Brian Lynn Jones is a country boy from Oklahoma. Singing since he could talk, music has always been an important part of his life. Brian and his band mates have traveled the country performing for audiences at festivals, fairs, rodeos, cook-offs, casinos, and clubs. In 2004 the band was the winner of the Orange County Music Award for Best Country Band. They were also showcased at the Colgate Country Showdown National Talent Search as a California state finalist.

Having tunes hit the Armed Forces Radio made Brian and the band proud. They love entertaining the troops and helping to keep their spirits up while they protect our country. The band's video for their song "If I Was Elvis" garnered much appreciation from fans. Two of Brian's original tunes "I Wanna Be the One" and "Don't Come Back Cryin' to Me" were featured in the Lions Gate film release of horror flick titled Penny Dreadful.

As a prolific writer and performer, Brian has released several music compilations and singles. Brian Lynn Jones and the Misfit Cowboys are professional and talented musicians who love to entertain. They have performed for happy crowds all over California to Tennessee, and can't wait to play for you.
